Philippines one of U.S. old friends in Asia, Ford

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — President Ford flew to The Philippines today for a second courtesy call on a South-east Asian ally before returning home from his China trip.

Ford, greeted at the airport by President and Mrs. Ferdinand E. Marcos, said, "I find it very significant that this visit to Pacific nations should conclude here in The Philippines among some of my country's best and oldest Asian friends."

The two presidents slowly wound their way through some of the 3,000 school children, many of them youngsters of armed forces personnel, who were dressed in colorful tribal and peasant costumes, chanting, dancing and playing local instruments.

Ford said that despite the remarkable changes in the world, "the relationship between our two countries has deepened and matured." He spoke of the years of common history, a reference to the 48-year period of American rule here.

One of the subjects the President will discuss in his overnight stopover here will be American bases. The Philippines wants control of the bases restored to them, which the United States accepts, but what it wants to work out is what this would mean in practice.

In his welcoming remarks, Marcos told Ford that The Philippines considered the United States "its strongest ally, it will so remain for a long time to come."

But he said also "there are new realities in the world" in discussing what he called the partnership that has allowed the United States "to maintain the concentration of the greatest naval and aerial power in this part of the world." This was a reference to the American Clark Air Base, 40 miles north of here, and the navy base at Subic Bay, 45 miles to the northwest.

Marcos said The Philippines was a small power "but an independent and free country nonetheless.... We, too, seek an authentic role in the future."

The Philippine president added, "While America alone may be unable to solve all the problems of the world, there is no serious problem in the world that can be solved without America."

He appealed for generosity and candor in reassessing U.S.-Philippine relations.

Before departing from Jakarta three hours earlier, Ford met privately with Indonesian President Suharto, after which the two presidents issued a joint communique that "expressed the intention of the United States to continue to provide substantial aid to Indonesia in support of Indonesia's development efforts."

It said the two leaders had "a cordial and frank exchange of views on international, regional and bilateral issues of interest to the two governments," adding that both leaders were committed to "an expanded dialogue" between their nations.

Ford said on arrival in Jakarta on Friday that "no area in the world is more important to us than Asia."

He told Suharto in a banquet toast Friday night that the United States "regards itself as a Pacific nation" and remains "firmly committed to peace and security in Southeast Asia and throughout Asia."

Ford and Suharto arranged for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik to hold a round of meetings in both capitals, starting with a session in Washington next spring. The talks will be aimed at "developing increasingly close and friendly ties," the communique said.

Kissinger told newsmen that Ford briefed Suharto about the trip to China, but the secretary of state gave no details of the briefing. Indonesia has no relations with Peking.

In Taiwan, the Nationalist Chinese Foreign Ministry issued a statement strongly opposing "dealings made between the United States and the Chinese Communist regime." It said the U.S. wish for accommodation with Peking since the Shanghai Communiqué "resulted in the fall of the Indonesian countries into Communist hands."

The Shanghai Communiqué, issued after President Nixon's visit to China in 1972, called for eventual establishment of diplomatic ties between Peking and Washington.

Aerial crash narrowly averted

CHICAGO (AP) — A Trans World Airlines jet with 77 persons aboard narrowly missed colliding at 21,000 feet with a United Airlines plane carrying 60 passengers, federal authorities said.

The near-miss Friday over Lake Michigan was the second time in nine days a TWA aircraft came close to an aerial crash. A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said it was the 14th near-miss this year.

Passengers said the TWA jet swerved sharply to avoid collision but no passenger or crew member on either Boeing 727 jet was injured.

On Nov. 26, a Trans World Airlines jumbo jet carrying 114 persons from Philadelphia to Los Angeles and an American Airlines plane with 194 persons came within 20 to 100 feet of each other near Detroit. Twenty-four persons were injured when the pilot of the American jet swerved sharply to avoid collision.

FAA spokesman Neal Callahan said the near-miss Friday occurred at 4:39 p.m. CST on the Michigan side of the lake about 60 miles northeast of O'Hare International Airport, the world's busiest.

United flight 291 was en route to Chicago from Providence, R.I., and TWA flight 403 was approaching O'Hare from Hartford, Conn.

"The TWA captain reported that he came up behind the United aircraft at the same altitude, saw it when it was about 300 feet in front, made an immediate left turn and descended about 100 feet," Callahan said. He said both flights continued on to O'Hare and landed safely. Both pilots filed reports, but there was no immediate reason given for the near miss, which was under investigation by the FAA.

"Visibility was unlimited at the time of the incident" and weather was no factor, Callahan said.

A passenger on the United plane notified The Associated Press of the near-miss. He said the TWA plane swerved sharply to the left to avoid hitting the United plane which had just been cleared to descend into its landing approach pattern.

The passenger, a Wilmette, Ill., businessman who asked not to be identified, said the jet "went into a holding pattern over the lake and (we) were about 15 minutes to a landing."

"The captain was announcing the weather and said we had broken a heat record today. His next words were, 'The old record was....' and at that point a TWA 727 passed us coming up behind us and banking to the left about 50 feet under our left wing." The passenger estimated the TWA pilot steered the plane into "about a 45-degree angle" to avoid the collision.

The passenger said the United pilot held a steady course. Afterward, said the businessman, who travels 55,000 to 70,000 miles a year, "the captain apologized and said these incidents do happen. He said, 'I understand you all being upset. But we definitely are flying at our prescribed altitude.'"

Hoffa body thought buried in Jersey City landfill

DETROIT (AP) — The FBI believes the body of ex-Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa may have been hauled to New Jersey in a barrel and buried in a Jersey City landfill, according to grand jury witnesses and other sources.

The grand jury recessed for the weekend, but three New Jersey Teamsters were headed for a police lineup today. A government informant has fingered the three men, two of them reputed Mafia figures, as responsible for the abduction-murder of Hoffa.

The lineup will be viewed by a second mysterious government witness who said he actually saw the abduction of Hoffa, but does not know the names of the men who abducted him, federal investigators said.

Several federal investigators said they regard corroboration of the informant's statements by the eyewitness as crucial to solving the four-month-old Hoffa disappearance.

All three East Coast Teamsters are associated with Local 560 in Union City, N.J., the same union local where Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano is trying to stage a comeback in the Teamsters. Provenzano, who openly opposed Hoffa's bid to re-enter Teamsters politics, was one of three men Hoffa believed he was on his way to meet when he disappeared July 30.

Two employees of Gateway Transportation Co. said Friday night they were among six of the trucking firm's employees quizzed by the Hoffa grand jury about company procedures for keeping track of large metal barrels.

"We were asked whether there were any missing barrels," said Edwin Streicher, Gateway's terminal manager in Detroit.

Streicher said FBI agents came to his office and took the dispatch records for a period beginning at the end of July and ending Aug. 10.

A supervisor for Gateway who refused to be identified said that he was one of the six persons quizzed by the grand jury.

"We were all down there before the grand jury," he said. "They asked us what we shipped. We are a common carrier, one of the biggest in the country, and we haul all kinds of things, including barrels."

FBI agents, meanwhile, cordoned off a dump in Jersey City.

A search warrant was issued Tuesday for the landfill. It made no mention of Hoffa but did say investigators were looking for the body of a reputed underworld soldier missing for more than a year.

New York loans okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation authorizing $2.3 billion in federal loans to save New York City from default passed easily in the Senate early today and was sent to the White House for certain approval.

"Somehow or another an awful lot of fiscal rabbits have been pulled out of New York's hat in the last few weeks," said Sen. James Buckley, R-N.Y., who voted for the bill. Senate approval came on a 57 to 30 vote.

Final congressional action ended months of speculation as to whether the federal government would step in to keep the city from defaulting on its obligations. The bill extends $2.3 billion in short-term loans for the city and is effective for the next three years.

President Ford proposed the bill in late November, reversing his previous opposition to federal aid for the city. The House okayed the measure 213 to 203 last Tuesday.

City officials have warned that default could come as soon as next Thursday, but with approval of the federal loans, it is expected that city bondholders will exchange their due notes for long-term notes to enable New York to continue operations without a formal default.

"On behalf of eight million New Yorkers, I commend the members of Congress from all over the country who recognized that we have a practical self-help plan in place and that this legislation is in the national interest," said New York Mayor Abraham Beame.

The final Senate vote, at 12:15 a.m., came after prolonged debate and parliamentary gimmickry by opponents who failed to mount a threatened filibuster. Amendments to weaken the bill all failed.

The Senate may now be faced with a round of filibusters against the appropriations bill to actually provide the money to cover the loans.

The bill approved today creates a vehicle by which New York City can borrow from the federal Treasury. Still to be considered by both the House and Senate is a $10.3-billion supplemental appropriations bill which contains the money to be loaned.

Beame said, "I am hopeful that the appropriations bill will be speedily approved and that the federal loan program will be implemented in time to complete the financing package assembled here in New York."

win Dixon Dollars remains, as the daily drawings will continue through Dec. 23.

Unemployment remains high

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the economy seems to be well into a recovery from recession, unemployment remains near its highest level since World War II.

The Labor Department reported on Friday that the nation's unemployment rate dropped three-tenths of 1 percent, or by 300,000 persons, last month to a total of 8.3 per cent. That means that of the 93 million persons in America's work force, 7.7 million were unemployed.

But as the unemployment rate took a slight dip last month, the actual number of persons seeking employment also fell. Analysts see that as a reason for the decline in the jobless figures.

Government figures showed that 460,000 persons who were looking for jobs in October, gave up their search in November and dropped out of the labor force.

The economy actually began its decline into recession in September of last year and by last November, as recession tightened its grip, six million persons, or 6.6 per cent of a work force estimated then at 91.7 million, were unemployed.

The jobless rate hit its peak last May when 9.2 per cent of a work force of 92.9 million persons were unemployed.

Unexpected reaction to 'Alice' day

By DON OAKLEY

That nationwide strike by women was—at the risk of being accused of sexism—pretty much of a bust.

In fact, "Alice Doesn't Day," during which women were encouraged to withhold a variety of services in order to demonstrate their indispensable role in society, actually seems to have been more of an inspiration to counterfeminist reaction among women than the consciousness-raising event it was supposed to be.

Five female members of the Arizona state legislature, for example, condemning the "destructive and negative attitude of the women's libbers," urged women to continue "performing the jobs and responsibilities that we have freely chosen."

Women in Newport, R.I., stage a "Male Appreciation Day." Wives served their husbands breakfast in bed and secretaries, girlfriends and even mothers-in-law treated men to dinners in restaurants.

The strike, of course, was intended to be more symbolic than real. It is doubtful if even its sponsor, the National Organization for Women, expected anything more than scattered, token support of the boycott.

But NOW may have accomplished more than it realizes, and have raised a lot of feminine consciousnesses in ways very different from what it had in mind.

As the antistrike activities suggest, the feminist leaders succeeded, at least for one day, in hardening the battle lines over the question of women's liberation—not between women and men but among women themselves. They succeeded in demonstrating that the feminist movement, in its more radical aspects, is totally out of touch with the real needs and desires of the majority of American women.

One can dismiss the arguments of those antifeminists who warn that the drive for sexual equality will remove women from the privilege pedestal on which men have traditionally placed them, just as one can dismiss the silly claim at the other extreme that there are no differences es between men and women, except that the latter can bear children.

Most women today support the idea of equal rights, responsibilities and opportunities under the law regardless of sex, and whatever credit for this belongs to the feminist movement should be acknowledged. But at the same time they realize that there are, always have been and always will be fundamental physical, emotional and socially beneficial differences between the sexes.

Rather than being rivals and competitors with men, as the radical feminists seem to want them to be, most women consider themselves partners with men. They believe that the sexes are two complementary halves of one greater whole, and that it is in union of male and female in the fullest meaning of the word that both sexes find the richest and most satisfying expression of their individual identities.

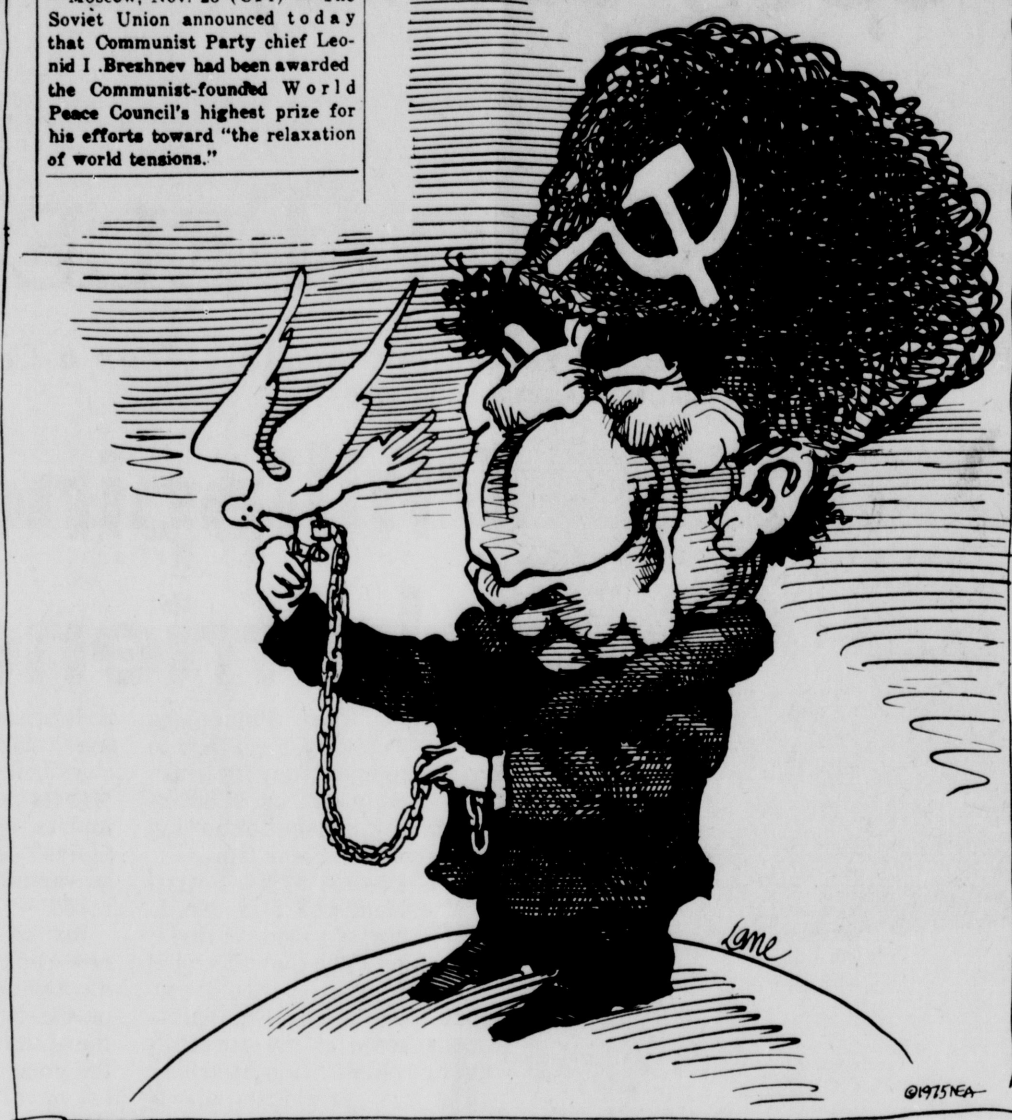

As author George Gilder has pointed out, the most important function of the female throughout history has been that of a civilizing influence on the male. The knowledge that they are providing security and material benefits for their wives and children is what keeps many men going in jobs that are not all that exciting and fulfilling in what used to be called the "man's world," just as the homemaker's job is often boring, harrying and unappreciated.

The threat posed by the feminist movement to this historic function of women, with the long-range consequences for society it entails, may explain much of the growing counter-reaction among women, whether or not all of them consciously perceive such a threat and put it in so many words.

The feminist movement is hardly dead, of course. It would never have come into being if there were not some very real sexual injustices that need to be corrected. But as "Alice Doesn't Day" seems to have proved, the basic common sense of the American woman will keep it from going too far.

Perpetrators gone but deeds live on

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — We watch Supreme Court appointments with care and analyze each choice in depth. We know the man or woman chosen for this third branch of government could have a major effect on our lives for years to come.

We tend to forget there's a fourth branch of government—the regulatory agencies—many of which, once set up, are beyond the practical year-to-year control of either the President or Congress. Their powers, in the main, are so broad, and their authority to write regulations and to interpret them is so great, they are, in effect, laws unto themselves. They have in their hands virtually unchallengeable power to make or break almost any firm in the United States, to destroy whole sections of industry, or give virtually absolute protection from major competition to any company or group of companies in their field of authority.

They can favor one section of the country over another, discourage technological advances, force higher prices, create artificial shortages which spur inflation and unemployment.

The regulations frequently are so written that some commission can, at will, find any company at any time in violation of some rule or other. The commissioners are thus in a position to favor their friends and penalize their enemies.

The bureaucrats in these agencies often serve for a working lifetime and influence greatly the attitudes of the agencies. The top men most frequently serve for fixed terms—so that a President's influence here may last for years after he has left office. And a new President may find his will thwarted by men installed by a predecessor.

President Nixon's Arthur Burns, for example, is still serving as chairman of the Federal Reserve System, one of numbers of older appointees still in positions of power.

Despite concerted Congressional attacks on some of President Ford's appointees, and while our attention is being diverted by the bitter infighting in Congress over changes in the regulatory agencies, Mr. Ford has managed to insert his men with his philosophy as chairmen for a major chunk of the regulatory agencies he has on his priority list.

These men are committed to deregulation as a way of life and resolved on a greater use of competition as a substitute for controls wherever possible.

The list is short but significant—Roderick Hills at the Securities and Exchange Commission, John Robson at the Civil Aeronautics Board, Richard Dunham at the Federal Power Commission, and Karl E. Bakke at the Federal Maritime Commission.

As noted above, the laws setting up these agencies and setting forth their powers and authority are so broad that these new chairmen, when backed by even a minority of other board or commission members, can make radical changes in how industry is regulated these next few years, even if Congress does nothing about Mr. Ford's proposed regulatory commission reforms.

The drive for revised laws, nevertheless, is being pushed with determination by the Ford action group so that future commission chairmen and members cannot revert to today's "bad old ways." The hope is they'd be so restructured and bled of authority in some essential respect they'll never again be a bar-

Who accounts for accountants?

NEW YORK (LENS)— The New York-based public accounting firm Arthur Young and Company has just published the results of a curious audit: an examination of a rival accounting firm—the biggest of them all, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, which has more than 1,400 partners in 50 countries.

And who ordered the audit? Peat, Marwick itself, which paid over $500,000 for it.

Earlier the firm had backed out of an audit arranged by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants because the institute wanted to keep the results secret. Peat, Marwick wanted public exoneration of its auditing practices, which had come under sustained and detailed attack from the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The SEC had sued Peat, Marwick as auditors of four financially troubled companies where full disclosure was an issue: Penn Central (now bankrupt), National Student Marketing, Talley Industries and Republic National Life Insurance. An SEC suit was pending regarding another now-bankrupt client, Stirling Homex.

In several of these audits, Peat, Marwick was criticized for accepting statements from management without independent verification. Implicit in SEC's complaint was the belief that the firm had grown too fast and that its standards had suffered as a result. Growth is a problem that Peat, Marwick shares with many other large accounting firms, some of which now find themselves with a shortage of senior partners to perform necessary supervision.

But Peat, Marwick may also have over-reached itself in taking on the audits of National Student Marketing and Republic National after disagreements between company managements and the predecessor auditing firms. In both cases the SEC charged, Peat, Marwick neglected to inform itself of the details of the disagreements.

Like Peat, Marwick, many American accounting firms are increasingly finding themselves the defendants in litigation from disgruntled stockholders in client firms. The question of how far the accountant's liability extends is yet to be resolved. But Arthur Young has now patted its competitor on the back.

After 12,000 hours of work by 150 accountants, including 50 partners, Arthur Young concluded that it was "favorably impressed with the extent of commitment to the conduct of (Peat, Marwick's) practice in accordance with professional standards."

There were a few quibbles, several instances where Arthur Young's accountants did not agree with Peat, Marwick decisions and some places where the written evidence of the audit was less complete than could have been wished; but on the whole the report was respectful of the professional competence of the rival firm.

An interesting innovation—but will non-accountants be eager to believe it?

Doctors of the Revolution

To have been a physician in the eighteenth century must have been a very frustrating experience. He was a man sworn to heal, to minister, to make well. Yet, virtually his only remedy was a kind word. His scant and errant 18th-century knowledge of medicine fell far short of the critical need.

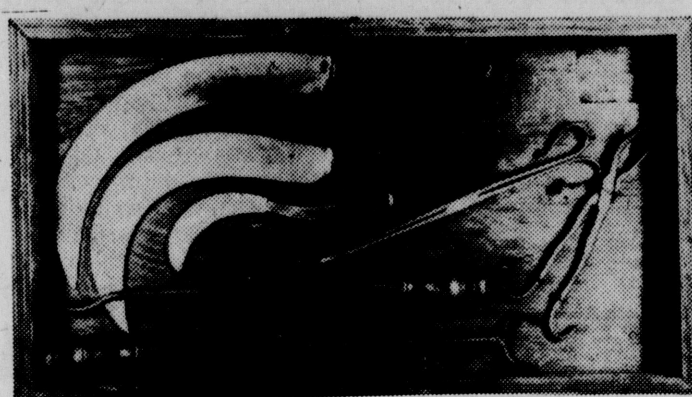

The 18th century is aptly styled the romantic period of American medicine, marked by imagination rather than reason. In a world where one's own mortality was painfully apparent, most people lived closer to death than to a doctor. For some it was a good thing, too. The underschooled and ill-equipped men who called themselves "physician" practiced a rugged brand of medicine.

The best of the colonial doctors knew how to set a broken limb and how to remove a bullet. Their doctor's bag contained homemade bandages, a few drugs, syringes, hotwater bottles of pewter and crockery, knives, saws and a mortar and pestle for mixing prescriptions according to exacting requirements like "a pretty draught" and "enough to lie on a jackknife's point."

Among a people who ardently believed in the doctrine of natural rights, there was considerable sentiment that the practice of medicine was an inherent right. One might as well be a doctor as anything else.

One resident of Huntington, L.I., during this period recalled being interrupted at his tavern dinner by "a band of the town politicians in short jackets and trousers. Among the rest," he said, "was a fellow with a worsted cap and great black fists. They stiled him doctor . . . he had been a shoemaker in town and was a notable fellow at his trade, but happening two years ago to cure an old woman of a pestilential mortal disease, he thereby acquired the character of a physician, was applied to from all quarters, and finding the practise of physick a more profitable business than cobbling, he laid aside his awls and leather, got himself some gallipots, and instead of cobbling of soles, fell to cobbling of human bodies."

Moreover, the healing trade offered opportunity for individual expression, something much appreciated by nascent

Americans. Among the various nostrums and panaceas available to the doctor were a whole army of depleting remedies: purges, vomits, sweats, blisters, bloodletting and poultices of garlick, onions, radishes, freshly chewed tobacco and gunpowder.

One might hold with the doctor who favored dispensing antimony, "that very active metal, and which, mild as it was, left . . . patients very commonly with a pretty strong conviction that they had taken something that did not exactly agree with them." Or, one might follow the pioneering practice of John Saffrin who advocated this remedy: "Take an egg and boil it very hard, then pull off the shell, and put it as hot as you can well endure, into the fundament of the patient grieved and when it is much abated of heat, put another egg in the same manner and it will cure."

America looked like a gold mine to any ambitious peddler of pills and panaceas. Poor nutrition, ill-constructed and crowded houses, elementary notions of sanitation, a life of exposure and toil left the colonists open to a host of afflictions. Epidemics of malaria, cholera, typhoid, scurvy, scarlet fever, yellow fever, diphtheria, smallpox, tuberculosis and influenza infected the countryside from Georgia to Maine.

Malaria was widespread and so endemic in America that it came to be perceived as a national trait. The disease gave Americans that gaunt look which now survives chiefly in the cartoonists' characterization of lean-visaged Uncle

Sam.

And war brought a more terrible enemy than the British. The mysterious and evil "bloody flux," which today we know as dysentery, stole silently throughout the country. Abigail Adams wept in Braintree, "The desolation of war is not so distressing as the havoc made by this pestilence. Some poor parents are mourning the loss of three, four and five children; and some families are wholly stripped of every member . . . 'Tis a dreadful time with the whole province. Sickness and death are in almost every family."

The colonial army lost many soldiers to dysentery. In 1775, both American forces bivouacked in Cambridge, and British forces in Boston suffered. Throughout the war, the disease so tormented the contesting armies that it was familiarly called "camp distemper" by the troops. Considering the health of both armies, it is hard to imagine how they had any strength to fight at all. The American Revolution was won on the battlefield, but the revolution in medicine had yet to begin.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

Colonial New York, from Manhattan to Lake Champlain and from Fort Niagara on Lake Ontario to the Pennsylvania border, was involved in nearly every major northern campaign during the Revolutionary War. Albany, the capital, was the target of two major British offensives from Canada: the Hudson River Valley; considered the key to control of the north, was occupied by both armies and the subject of land battles, naval attacks, and betrayal; and the central and western wildernesses saw the war's largest single campaign against Indians, The World Almanac notes.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE F-642: Bill A., aged 37, is a traveling salesman.

"Dr. Crane," he said, "my wife and I are active workers in our home church."

"But my large sales territory often keeps me away on Sundays."

"So I visit various churches in different cities."

"Last week my wife joined me for the weekend in a city in Pennsylvania."

"She selected the church for us to attend, but I objected, saying I had visited it a few weeks before and nobody shook hands with me or invited me back."

"So I told her it was too cold and formal for us, but she said she couldn't imagine that said would be the case and we attended, anyway!"

"When we entered, she followed the usher way down toward the front and I meekly trailed behind her."

"And after the sermon was over, a dozen people smilingly greeted us and invited us to come back the next week.

"The reaction was just the opposite of what I had predicted would happen."

"But my wife explained that the usual strangers who visit a new church, timidly sit down in the back pews."

"So do all the other visitors! As a result, I had been surrounded by other newcomers, each hesitating to speak first or invite his neighbor to come back."

"My wife thus warned me henceforth to go down toward the front, for that's where I would be surrounded by the hometown members of any church and this be cordially greeted at the conclusion of the service."

Church Psychology
Bill's wife is a practical psychologist and her observation is quite correct.

For the usual visitor slips into a rear pew and later waits for his neighbors to speak first or shake hands.

Alas, those neighbors also are likely to be strangers, instead of hometown members, so they remain tongue-tied, waiting to be greeted.

So they may all leave the church without being welcomed and greeted by the church members.

Which means that it is smart for some of you affable members deliberately to sit in the rear pews, just to start the handshaking process.

And you visitors to a new church should follow the usher farther down to the front! For the shy, timid strangers shun those front rows!

Even the usual church member stays away from the first three rows, as you can see tomorrow when you attend your own church!

This is because most people are rather introverted and thus don't have that outgoing personality of the salesman, politician or sociable type who easily starts conversation, even with total strangers.

If you members wish to make a startling improvement in the psychological "climate" of your church, then launch the "Compliment Club" among your Sunday School classes.

It changes shy, timid introverts into friendly folks who make their neighbors feel happy by means of spoken honest praise.

It simply applies the Golden Rule in social contacts!

So send for my "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents and apply its five "Laws for Complimenting."

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of Dixon Evening Telegraph, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

New TV series for Sonny, Cher

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sonny and Cher are together again, but it's only for a new television variety series.

The couple, divorced last June, will star in a show to replace Cher's present solo series on CBS in February.

"After we finish work every day we'll go our separate ways," said Sonny Bono, 40, at a news conference Thursday. Cher, 29, said she found her series limited and that she missed having Sonny to banter with.

Cher's tart-tongued putdowns were a characteristic of their hit show that ran for three seasons on CBS until its cancellation in May 1974 when their marriage broke up.

Although Sonny said the format of their new show is yet to be worked out, their witty battle of the sexes undoubtedly will be a part of it. She ad libbed several putdowns during the news conference. Sonny said, "Cher can hum and I know what she's thinking."

Sonny and Cher were married Oct. 27, 1964, and divorced last June 27. Three days later Cher married rock star Gregg Allman. She filed suit for divorce nine days after that, then withdrew it in August. Allman filed suit for divorce in Macon, Ga., last month.

Cher and Sonny said they have no plans for a personal reconciliation.

Sonny's efforts at a solo series on ABC flopped last fall. Cher's show, which began last February, has been in serious trouble in the ratings lately.

..... for and about women

Moist climate keeps skin young

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Go northwest, young woman, if you'd keep your skin youthful looking. It seems the "natural humidity and moisture in the air keeps skin from aging rapidly." So says makeup artist Eduardo De La Madrid.

But all is not lost if you live in another area. If you apply moisturizers to the skin, you might get the same effect. Well-known—Eduardo makes beauty forays into cities and towns for a week at a time all year—he was comparing skins in different parts of the United States.

"In Miami and New Mexico women have dry skin because they spend so much time in the sun. In Denver one 27-year-old girl had the kind of dry, wrinkled skin a woman might have in her late 30s. Sun and wind can age the skin rapidly."

In cities where women keep up with fashion—San Francisco, Chicago, New York and others—they may be more attuned to beauty needs than say, Seattle, where they spend a lot of time outdoors, he points out. Even though it lies in the moisture belt, Seattle women can dry their skins prematurely by playing outdoors without providing protection for their skins.

Some women tell Eduardo—which he uses as his professional name—"My husband doesn't want me to wear makeup." But he considers that nonsense because "any husband wants his wife to be attractive." If he doesn't want her to make up it is "because she doesn't know how to do it or chooses the wrong colors or something." If she wants proof, she should compare photographs of herself in black and white and in color. Color makes all the difference, he says.

In fact when Eduardo, 35, arrives in a town he is likely to shake all the sleeping beauties—homemakers and career girls who could be beautiful if only they wouldn't take their looks for granted.

"I tell them the truth... not only about their bad makeup... their wrinkled throats that need massaging... their hairdos that can be improved... and how they are cheating themselves."

He hears excuses, he says. "How can I take 20 minutes a day for a beauty program when I can hardly keep up with the washing, cooking, cleaning and children...?" is a typical plea. "If a woman can't take 20 minutes a day to improve herself, she will age rapidly," he tells the woman. It hits home, he says.

Women worry more about aging than any other beauty factor, he has found in his tours. He is national makeup artist for Charles of the Ritz and is its special events coordinator. In addition to providing makeup advice, he provides information about the effects of household pollutants on the skin and offers exercises that will help tighten flabby skin or ward off deeper wrinkles.

"Makeup can protect against dust, heat and the drying effects of air conditioners in the home. At the same time it can make a woman more attractive if she must answer a knock on her door."

Newer makeups have built-in moisturizers that make it easy to apply makeup smoothly. You don't need to slather it on. A little goes a long way and it can protect the skin.

"You don't get that brightness in makeup that gives that overly made up look. Reds and pinks have a tawny, brownish tone. Ginger, cinnamon, caramel, cornelian brown are all faltering to current fashions and provide a healthy glow."

Eduardo is trying to foil a few fine lines with moisturizer which he uses three times a day, patting it on lined places. He is trying to prove that it can ward off deeper lines at the mouth or between the eyebrows. They are barely detectable now but he is experimenting to see what happens.

"Little wrinkles form at the cleavage and these may not be noticed until a woman wears a low cut dress. She should massage her moisturizing lotion from that area up her chest and neck and out beyond her ears. If she wears long hair, she may not even notice that wrinkles are forming at the neckline behind her ears."

"Certain isometric exercises can help a woman whose neck is beginning to wrinkle," he insists, opening his mouth wide to illustrate how it can contract the neck muscles and help tighten the area.

As for applying hand cream, it is seldom applied properly, in his opinion. It should be smoothed on as if you were donning gloves. If you wring your hands together as you apply it, you are just encouraging wrinkling of the hands, he contends.

Eyeshadow is often overdone and there may be overuse of blue. "Why not an eyeshadow that matches a dress, scarf, blouse, whatever?" he asks. It need not match your eyes. And if you have blue eyes why not green shadow to make them look bluer. This year's colors include lapis blue, jadeite, a cornelian brown—jewel tones.

He is asked how to make up for the Oriental look and suggests that jade shadow be brought out toward the temples and a brown shadow used "to make a hollow" at the corner of the eye between the eyelid and eyebrow, although he is not encouraging that look. He prefers a pale "porcelain-like" foundation and a powder in an ivory buff to soft beige.

Barcelona-born and Cuba-raised, Eduardo, a handsome six-footer, came to the United States at 15 and has spent the last 19 years in the field of fashion and beauty.

Podiatrist and his statistics prove Ann wrong

Dear Ann Landers: To a recent letter from one of your readers signed "Too Late For Me," you replied, "It is the responsibility of parents to see to it that their children go into adulthood with healthy, normal feet. All it takes is shoes that fit."

As president of the Illinois College of Podiatric Medicine, I can tell you that statement is erroneous. Statistics which we have compiled over a period of several years show that only 14 per cent of all children's foot problems are directly related to ill-fitting shoes. The remaining 86 per cent have problems that were present at birth and became aggravated by inappropriate care which included ill-fitting shoes.

Most of the conditions found in children's feet can be helped with professional treatment by a doctor of podiatric medicine. —Philip R., Brachman, D.P.M. Dear P.R.B., D.P.M.: Thank you for setting me straight. You can be sure the shoe industry will be delighted with your letter as well as your colleagues in the field of podiatry. I must say your statistics were a revelation to me.

Dear Ann Landers: I am at the end of the line. I hope you can tell me what to do. I'm going crazy.

For two years I've been hooked on this nutty broad. She is the biggest liar in the world. I can't trust her for half an hour behind my back. She cheats on me left and right. When I catch her she cries and begs me to take her back — says she had a couple drinks tot many and that she didn't know what she was doing.

The last time she pulled that I said, "We're through. Get out of my life and stay out." When I came home that night she was sitting on the floor in the hall outside my apartment, bawling her eyes out. I couldn't stand it so I forgave her. Five days later she slipped out with a friend of mine, up to her old tricks again.

My doctor has me on tranquilizers because of this miserable woman. I know I should give her up but I can't seem to do it. Whenever I throw her out she comes back and cries and I give in. Please tell me what to do. — Soft Spot

Dear Friend: You have a "soft spot" all right. It's your head. Apparently you can't live with that "nutty broad" and you can't live without her either.

Some people set themselves up for agony-producing situations because they feel they need to be punished. Of course it's sick, but they won't admit it. They call themselves "soft-hearted."

The day you are able to put that liar out of your life for good you'll know you are getting well. Good luck. I hope it's soon.

Dear Ann Landers: Last week my cousin from Davenport was visiting me. The phone rang. I was grocery shopping and my cousin answered. It was my daughter Sara calling from Kansas City. (She always calls station-to-station because it's cheaper). When Sara heard my cousin's voice she was annoyed and I don't blame her. She had to pay for the call.

I say it's rude to answer the phone in someone else's home. Am I right? — Mad

Dear Mad: The natural response to a ringing phone is to answer it. If you don't want your guests to answer your phone when you're out, just tell them.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

A psychic bid is one designed to give misinformation. In the early '30s such bids were often called Jacobys because young Oswald Jacoby was known to bid them frequently.

Forty years later, old Oswald Jacoby has given them up, but Jim still tries one on occasion.

His one-spade bid in the East seat, made in a rubber bridge game turned out to be super-successful. It wasn't too risky. He wasn't vulnerable and could always run to diamonds if he got into spade trouble.

If Jim had passed or raised diamonds immediately the chances are that North and South would get to four spades and wind up making five odd. They might still have found spades if South had doubled one spade, but South elected to bid hearts and North raised him to game.

West opened a spade south rose with dummy's ace and led a trump, but it did him no good. West grabbed the first heart, led a second spade which Jim ruffed. Jim led a diamond to his partner's ace, whereupon a second diamond ruff set the unfortunate declarer.

Attention! Prospective brides

Because of misunderstanding on wedding pictures. The Telegraph is asking prospective brides to arrange for good black-and-white wedding pictures for use with wedding stories.

Color photographs and black-and-white prints off a color negative are unsatisfactory for good newspaper reproduction.

Rather than be disappointed by having a picture rejected by the newspaper, we are advising brides to insist on a black-and-white picture shot with black-and-white film.

Class inspects local restaurant

An on-site inspection was conducted Thursday at Dixon Country Club by the Food Service Sanitation class at Sauk Valley College. The semester course, offered under the Community Service Program at Sauk, provides food handlers with up-to-date information on new sanitation rules and regulations under study by the State Department of Public Health. Food handlers at many area restaurants have completed the course and others are scheduled to enroll in next semester's class. ### Two injured in crash

Two Dixon youths were rushed to KSB Hospital early this morning following a car accident. Tim O'Sullivan, 17, 803 E. Third St., was listed in fair condition, and Louis B. Apple, 18, 1209 W. Seventh St., was treated and released after their car was struck broadside by a car driven by Nicholas J. Caudillo, 29, Sterling. Caudillo was reported traveling west on Second Street at a high rate of speed. He passed through a stop sign, striking the Apple vehicle which was northbound on College Avenue. The force of the impact spun Apple's car around and both occupants were thrown from the vehicle. Caudillo's car continued after the initial crash and struck a parked car belonging to Donald A. Wilhelm, 123 College Ave. Caudillo was arrested on charges of stop-sign violation, driving while intoxicated, implied consent, and obstructing a police officer.

DuPage attorney seeks judgeship

John T. Perry, a DuPage County attorney, today announced he will seek in the March primary the Democratic nomination for Illinois Supreme Court justice from the Second Judicial District. The Second Judicial District consists of 13 northern Illinois counties outside of Cook County. Candidates for the Supreme Court go through the same primary election process as candidates for other offices. They previously were chosen by the state conventions of each political party. A resident of Glen Ellyn, Perry, 43, has been practicing law for 15 years. After graduating from the University of California Hastings College of Law in 1960, he started working for the Winston and Srawn law firm in Chicago in 1961. Leaving the firm in 1964, Perry co-founded the law firm he practices at now, Vescelus, Perry, and Polard in Wheaton. In 1973, the Supreme Court appointed Perry to the nine-member Review Board, an appellate branch of the Illinois Supreme Court's Attorney Disciplinary System. The board members review cases of attorneys accused of misconduct. "The procedures used on the board are the same as those on the Supreme Court," Perry said. "For each case, we hear oral arguments, read briefs, discuss the case, and then write the opinion. The decisions in these cases are then submitted to the court for reconsideration. "I have come as close as any lawyer can in having appellate judicial experience, without having had previous experience on the bench." Perry is the lawyer on the board representing the area roughly comprising the Second Judicial District. From 1971 to 1973, Perry also served on the DuPage County Bar Judiciary Committee whose members make recommendations to the Circuit Court after reviewing the qualifications of those appointed to associate judgeships. In addition to participating in legal activities, Perry has been commissioner of the DuPage County Board of Election Commissioners since its inception in 1974. The board is the election authority in DuPage County and oversees county, state and national elections. Perry also has been active in the election campaigns of Adlai Stevenson and Paul Simon. Perry and his wife, Pamela, have been married for 19 years and have three children.

Eldena design wins award

The Illinois Association of School Boards, at its annual convention at the Palmer House in Chicago, gave an award to the firm of McLane & McLane Architects of Dixon for work in designing the Eldena School Addition. The firm was selected to design the addition to the Eldena School by the Lee County Special Education Association.

Every year the convention presents awards of recognition for outstanding school design. Projects submitted for the exhibit were required to be either under construction or have completed construction within the last several years.

The competition began several months ago when all architects in the state were invited to submit entries for preliminary consideration.

At this stage the number of entries was narrowed to 14 for the final exhibit in Chicago.

The jury of architects and school administrators cited three projects to receive awards. The other winners were FGM, Inc., for Deerfield Junior High School, Deerfield and Orput Associates for Harlem High School in Loves Park.

The jury commended the McLane and McLane project as being "a clean simple addition to an existing building with difficult site considerations; an imaginative solution, and showing a good separation of different educational elements. The building is under construction with completion anticipated in July, 1976."

Sauk schedules GED testing

General Educational Development (GED) Tests will be given at Sauk Valley College on Dec. 13, at 8 a.m. The tests will be administered by Michael Seguin, chief examiner, GED Testing Program, Sauk Valley College. To be eligible applicants must be 19 years of age and a resident of the State of Illinois.

These tests are for non-high school graduates, who wish to be awarded the equivalent of a high school diploma. Any person more than 19 years of age who wishes to take the tests may apply through the office of the Regional Superintendent of Schools in the county where they reside before going to Sauk Valley College to write the tests. A fee of $5 is charged each applicant.

Scholarship donations being sought

Donations are being solicited for the Jim Hand Memorial Scholarship Fund recently established through the Sauk Valley College Foundation. The fund was created in the memory of Hand, a baseball player and graduate of SVC who was killed in an automobile accident in November, 1975. It was established by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hand, former Sterling residents who now reside in Green Bay, Wis. Ron Marlier, director of financial aids and a staff advisor to the college foundation, said that donations by interested area residents may be sent to him at the SVC Financial Aids Office in care of the Jim Hand Memorial Fund.

Marlier said that the scholarship is intended for persons from the SVC district who are interested in playing baseball or who are interested in a career in physical education and/or coaching.

Donations to this fund are tax deductible and checks should be made payable to the SVC Foundation. Marlier said further information about the fund may be obtained from him at the college.

Bicentennial flag planted

MALTA—Kishwaukee College has a 13-foot by 19-foot Continental Flag on its grounds. But you won't be able to see it until the spring.

Several horticulture students planted 1,000 hyacinth bulbs on the college's southeast corner near the Illinois 38, Malta Road intersection.

When the bulbs bloom in April, passersby should see a flag design with 13 red and white stripes and 13 white stars with a blue background said Bill Carlson of Geneva and Scott Walters of DeKalb, who organized the project.

They said 390 Marconi (red), 350 L'Innocence (white) and 260 Blue Jacket (blue) hyacinth bulbs were used in the planting during the final week of November.

Other students who participated in the project sponsored by the college include Mark Gemmer of Aurora, Cathy Young of Arlington Heights, George Mitchell of Rochelle, Joe Ptasnik of Kewanee and Jim Sullivan of Belvidere. They all expect to see a living bicentennial flag next spring.

Probe theft

Pickpockets at Grant City victimized a Dixon woman Friday evening.

Christine Morgan, 910 S. Ottawa Ave., reported to Dixon Police that as she was leaving the store two youths bumped into her. When she checked her pocket, $38 in cash was missing.

Three arrested in burglaries

Three Sterling youths have been taken into custody through the combined efforts of Lee and Whiteside County Sheriff's deputies and Sterling Police.

George Friesen and Ernesto Garcia, both 17, were arrested late Friday afternoon at Northland Mall. They were charged with burglaries at the Robert Osborne residence in Sterling on Tuesday and the George Bildeback residence, east of Dixon, Wednesday.

Garcia was additionally charged with escape after he reportedly eluded officers. Deputies reported that as they were escorting Garcia from the mall to a squad car, he turned and ran. Garcia eluded deputies in the foot chase that ensued but was later found as he was attempting to hide underneath a car, deputies said. A third youth, Joe Dyer, also 17, is being held in Lee County jail on charges of burglarizing the Bildeback residence. Lee County Sheriff Ray Nehr said the investigation of the offenses are continuing and future arrests are pending.

People in the news

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — James Russell of Fresno was given a reprieve from mid-December jury duty for the best of reasons. He's Santa Claus. The county jury commissioner's office said it granted Russell a delay in serving because "we want you to know the jury commissioner's office has a heart," an employee said. Russell serves as a Santa Claus at a regional shopping center. He will be put back on the jury duty list after Christmas.

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Utica Mayor Edward Hanna laid off a number of city employees in an austerity move and said he would impose a wage freeze. Then he hired his wife as commissioner of the city board of water supply and his son as an urban renewal department employee. Wife Ellen earns $800 a year in her post and son Paul, 24, makes $11,500 annually on the city payroll.

Defending his appointments, Hanna said his wife is "coming in under an emergency situation where I need total loyalty to the job and total loyalty to me personally. I know of nobody I can trust more." He said Mrs. Hanna will return her salary to the city. He said his son has been working for the city for about a year and a half without pay. "He can see the lack of loyalty to the job by city employees, the indifference and waste," Hanna said. "It's good to know you've got somebody across the hall who's giving you the work."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert J. Dole received a telephone call from former President Richard M. Nixon offering contratulations on his upcoming marriage to Federal Trade Commissioner M. Elizabeth Hanford.

The Kansas Republican said Friday that Nixon "was in good spirits" and "invited us to San Clemente for a cup of tea."

Dole was Republican national chairman from 1970 through Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign. Miss Hanford was nominated in 1973 by Nixon for her seven-year term on the FTC. The couple will be married in a private ceremony Saturday in a crypt chapel of the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul.

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — A suit by Princess Ira Furstenberg for $2,000 a month in alimony from wealthy Brazilian industrialist Francisco "Baby" Pignatari has been rejected by the Brazilian Supreme Court.

Princess Ira, 35, daughter of Prince Tassilo Furstenberg, and Pignatari, former international playboy, were married in 1959 and divorced in 1964.

Pignatari paid the Italian-born princess $25,000 when the divorce was finalized and paid $2,000 a month in alimony until 1966. She began Brazilian court action in 1967 to get the payments restored, but Friday's unanimous court ruling upheld a lower court's decision against continuation of the payments.

Pignatari's lawyers argued that the princess "is a very rich person," noting that the family of her mother, Clara Agnelli, controls an Italian industrial complex that includes the Fiat auto company.

The Doctor Says:

Epidemic of scabies spreading in world

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — Somewhere, somehow, I caught scabies, and, after several trips to the dermatologist, it cleared up. I couldn't convince my husband that he should submit to the lotion treatment, and in several weeks he became a victim.

I have some infestation again, and now we are following the doctor's directions on the lotion, changing bed linens, and changing to freshly laundered clothes. My question is, how contagious are these mites? My doctor said the mite lives only on a warm body and therefore is passed only by close contact from the infected skin, and there is no danger of transmitting it by hanging a coat on a public coat rack, etc. His nurse says that it ping-pongs back and forth in contact with doorknobs, dishes, etc.

This problem is playing havoc with my nerves, so I'll appreciate any information you can send us on clearing my home of this pest.

DEAR READER — There is literally a worldwide epidemic of scabies and other small animals of the louse group at the present time.

You are more likely to get scabies from close personal contact. The female has small, sharp cutting edges on her front legs, and with these and her jaws, she digs a tunnel into the skin. These burrows, commonly in the folds of the skin as between the fingers, are one of the best evidences of an infestation with scabies. She mates and lays her eggs here, and they hatch, producing a new crop of bugs.

The itch usually doesn't occur until nearly a month after the first burrow is plowed in your skin. So, a person may go along blissfully ignorant of a recent infection for a month or more after it started.

The itch is usually at night, and most of the skin surfaces can be involved except the face and scalp (in newborn babies the scalp may be involved, too).

The parasites are killed by prescribed medical lotions or cream used after a good bath for best effect. A second application must be used a week later to kill the second crop of parasites from existing eggs.

Donut man says he feels like artist

CHICAGO (AP) —The most beautiful thing in the world to Ray Adams is a donut.

Adams, 300-pound production manager of a Chicago donut factory that turns out 4 million "wheels" a week, says he feels like an artist.

"I can take a bag of flour and make something beautiful out of it. Nothing in the world is as beautiful as a donut," he enthused.

"My whole life has been donuts. When I was eight years old, I was washing and greasing pans in my grandfather's small bakery in Jacksonville (Fla.). By the time I was 16 I had learned the business and was turning out 200 dozen hand-made donuts a day. It was beyond my wildest dreams that when I was 42 I would have a job like I've got now, surrounded by a mile of conveyor belts carrying cooling donuts for packaging. One machine alone pumps out 190 donuts per minute."

Adams estimates that he walks five miles a day around the aromatic production lines, from which he plucks at random a dozen donuts for taste testing.

"I take one bite. If it leaves a taste in your mouth it's got too much grease," he says. "A donut has to look good. You can make the best in the world but if they don't look good you're stuck."

Adams laughs about a donut's hole being made bigger to save money. He says holes can be made any size by changing nozzles on the air pump machines that extrude dough into donut shapes.

Free throws key Ohio victory

ANNAWAN — Two free throws apiece by Duane Blaine, Tom Yucas and Tom Sibigroth in the last 1:25 of the final period of action pushed the Ohio Bulldogs to a 65-59 Little Eight conference win over the Annawan Braves, here, Friday night. The victory boosts Ohio's unbeaten winning streak to five consecutive games.

Using a tough press Ohio took a quick 7-1 advantage and continued its lead throughout the first quarter, taking a 12-5 margin with but two and one-half minutes gone in the initial period. Defense was not steadily present in the first quarter as the shooters dominated the period.

Annawan fought back in the second period to tie the contest at half-time. Ohio ran into foul problems in the second quarter and were forced to take the effective press off. Mike Keim, who scored 10 markers in the contest in a losing cause, hit consistently underneath while Randy Childs connected from around 15 feet out.

Jim Brandau kept the Bulldogs in the contest while Keim and Childs were hot by dropping eight points through the nets in the second quarter. The conference match held a 32-32 half-time score.

Tom Yucas aided the 18-point Ohio third quarter as the senior center dumped in eight points. Annawan outscored Ohio 17-15 in the final period, but the key free throws proved to be too much for the Braves.

"Every kid that got in there contributed," stated Ohio coach Dave Mead, after the game. "We got some real key baskets when we needed them. Blaine hit a couple key baskets and (Joe) Cooney had a big rebound basket."

"We never had a comfortable lead in the game. We could not get a six point lead."

Brandau, who collected his 1,000th varsity point in Tuesday night's battle versus Walnut, picked up 21 markers on the night. The senior guard connected on nine of 20 field goal attempts and added three free throws. Tom Yucas tacked on 13 markers while Dan Piper dropped 10 through to lead the Bulldogs in their conference win.

Childs collected 23 points, Dick Croegaert 11 and Keim 10 as double figure scorers for the 1-3 Braves overall and 0-1 in conference.

Ohio outrebounded Annawan 34-26 with Brandau grabbing 14 and Tom Yucas 10. Blaine and Piper each picked up five assists in the game while Piper accounted for four steals.

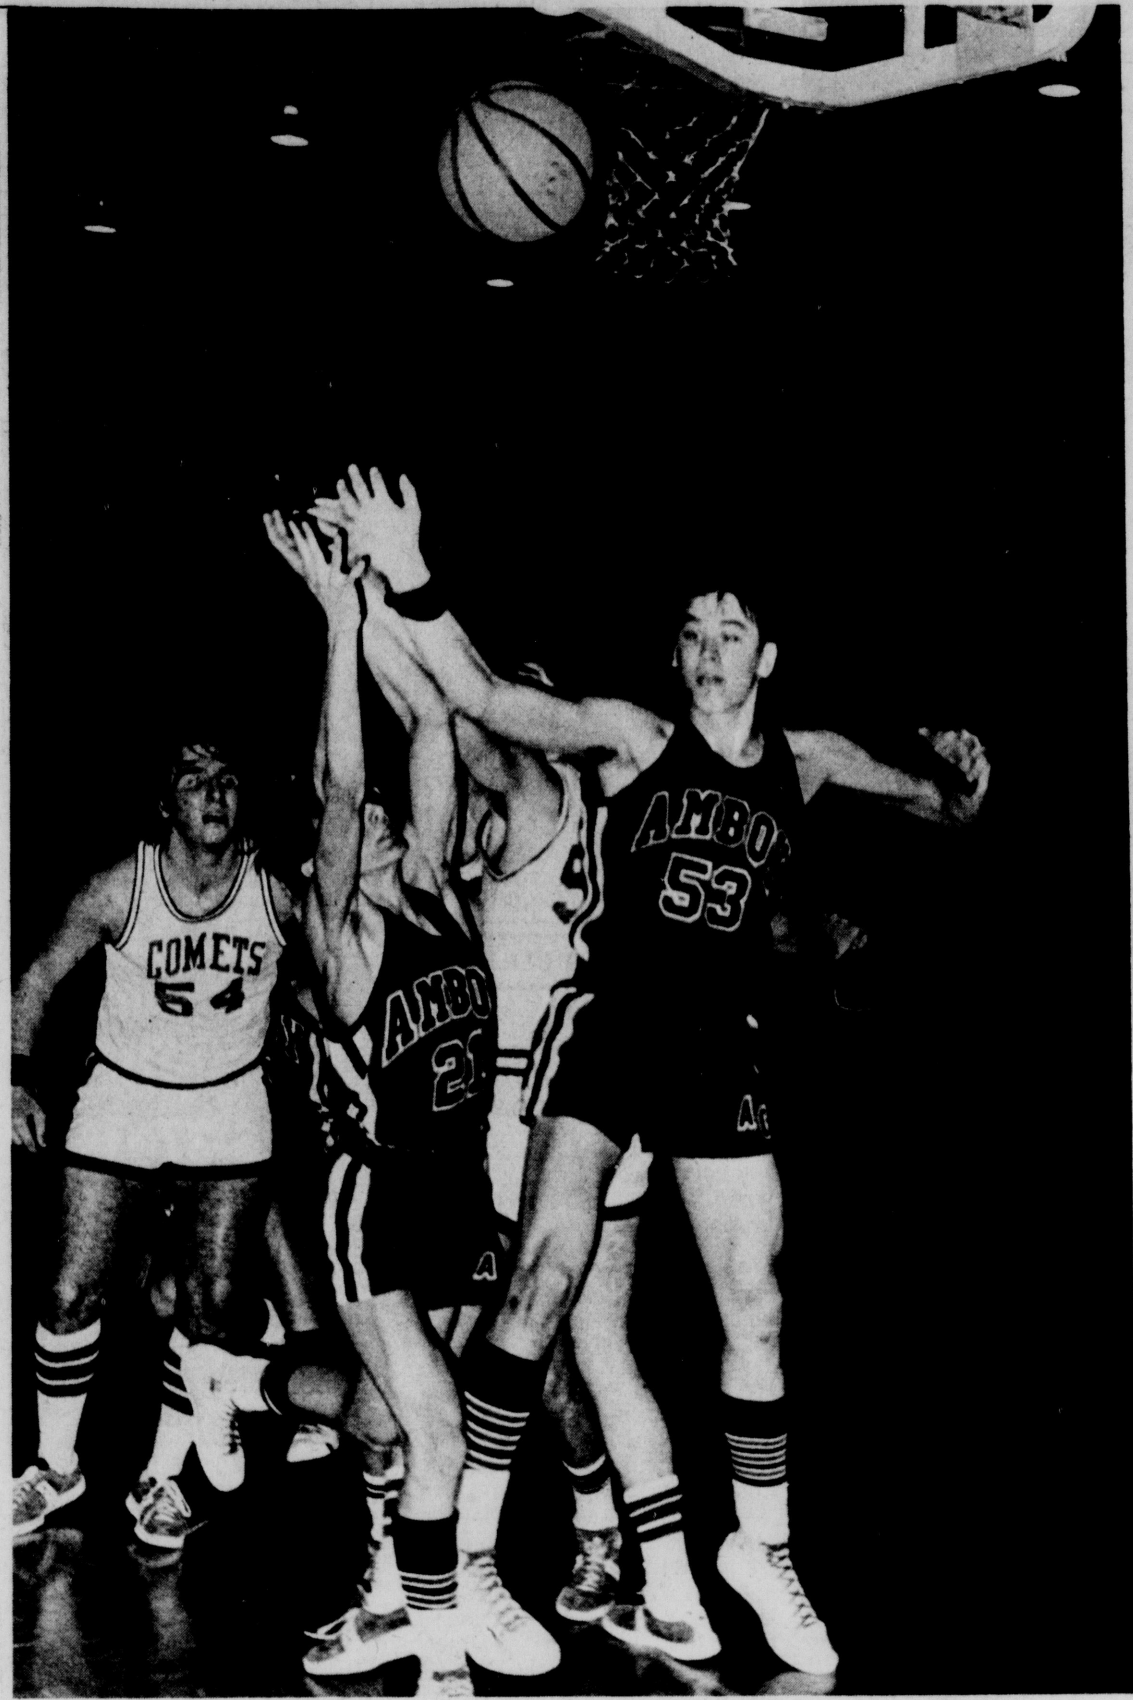

Ohio will attempt to capture its sixth consecutive victory of the season when the Bulldogs travel to Leland Tuesday to meet the Panthers.

Paw Paw falls

PAW PAW—In a game marked by turnovers, poor penetration and forced outside shooting the Earlville Red Raiders squeaked by Paw Paw 38-33 in a low-scoring Little 10 Conference contest, here, Friday night.

Earlville took the early lead and held onto a first-quarter 6-4 advantage. Paw Paw, led by Marc Hanson, grabbed the Red Raider lead in the second period when the hosts outscored Earlville 11-8 to take a 15-14 advantage into the locker room at halftime.

The inability to feed to the big men underneath plagued both teams throughout the battle. Unable to work the ball in, outside shooting was stepped up and the result was the low-scoring contest, due to the inconsistency of the long shooters.

Earlville took charge in the second half by dumping 24 points through the nets in the final two quarters, while Paw Paw managed but 18.

Hanson took high point honors for Paw Paw with 16, while Tim Eisenhower pushed 12 markers through to lead the victorious Red Raiders.

Walnut loses

WYOMING—Walnut, down by 13 at the end of the first half, came out running in the third quarter to cut the large margin by seven, but the total comeback attempt was thwarted as the Wyoming Indians downed the Blue Raiders 58-46, here, Friday night in a Blackhawk Conference opener.

Walnut pumped 10 points in each of the first two periods, while Wyoming took advantage of the Blue Raiders' inability to connect consistently in totaling 33 markers through the first half.

Walnut moved quickly and accurately in the opening minutes of the second half in narrowing the 13-point lead to seven. But, just as suddenly as the Blue Raiders had become hot, the tide turned and a cold shooting spell hit the visitors.

In the latter minutes of the third quarter, and throughout the final period of action, Walnut could not buy the big buckets. In one dry series, the Blue Raiders hit one of 16 field goal attempts for an anemic six per cent average. An eight-point fourth quarter sealed Walnut's loss.

Joe Colgan collected 19 points for the victors while Joe Beck and Jim Mercer added 11. Mike Munger dumped in 14 markers to lead Walnut.

Clippers slip by Comets in Three Rivers Conference

By CONNI DETTMAN
Telegraph Sports Writer
STERLING—The ball hit the backboard, bounced to the front of the rim, landed and rolled around twice before falling through.

This was the story here Friday night, at least for Amboy. For the home Newman team, who managed the last two baskets of the game, the story wasn't quite as rosy as the Clippers slipped by the Comets, 60-54.

Powerhouse Joe Bothe, Amboy, helped lead the Clippers over the Comets with 26 points. Bothe, top scorer for both teams, compiled the score on nine baskets and eight charity tosses. Twelve of Bothe's points were score in the first half.

Bothe was followed in scoring by Greg Esgar, tallying with 13 points on five baskets and three free throws. Also in double figures for the Amboy team was Randy Blackburn, who scored 13 markers on four buckets and five free throws.

Curt Repass was the top scoring gun for the Comets with 24 points. Half of Newman's half-time score of 28 points was scored by Repass in the first two quarters. Repass scored on 11 baskets and two free throws, the only two charity tosses Newman made in the game.

The Clippers jumped out into the early lead on a basket each by Esgar and Blackburn. Esgar scored the first bucket of the night on a long outside shot seconds after the tip went into Amboy hands. Newman took possession of the ball but two shots failed to fall through the hoop before the Clippers picked up the rebound.

Baskets by Mike McDonald and Repass of Newman tied the score before Repass put another ball through the hoop to push the Comets into a two-point lead. Esgar came back for the Clippers to tie the score at 6-6 and then went to the line to score a free throw after being fouled on the successful basket attempt.

Amboy fell behind 10-7 on points scored by Repass before they came back to tie the score. Bothe tied the score on a three-point play at 10 apiece. The Clippers then went ahead on a bucket by Esgar. When the final buzzer went off to end the first quarter, the Clippers were on top, 16-14.

The Clippers controlled the second-quarter tip and Bothe quickly put the ball through the hoop on a close inside shot to give Amboy an 18-14 margin. Newman couldn't connect on a free throw after a Clipper foul gave the Comets a three-point play attempt. A Newman foul then sent Bothe to the line. Connecting on both of the one-and-one situations, Bothe pushed the Clippers into a 20-16 lead.

Newman took over the ball again but could not put it through the hoop. Amboy's defense lacked a little as the Comets took two and three shots at the basket. If Newman had connected on their field-goal attempts, the Clippers would have found themselves trailing instead of holding a 28-18 lead with less than four minutes in the half.

The Clippers initiated a full-court press to try to keep the Comets away from the basket and force the turnovers. Newman also tried the full-court press but it did not bother the Amboy team.

While the Comets had to rely on the hot hand of Repass, the Clippers moved the ball around and shared the scoring task. Repass scored most of his shots from medium range. Newman worked the ball around and scored from all ranges on their end of the court.

In the waning minutes of the quarter, the Comets made a desperate attempt to come back and initiated a full-court aggressive man-to-man defense. Sometimes double-teaming the Clippers, Newman attempted to force the turnover by Amboy. At the end of the half, the Comets trailed the Clippers, 31-28.

The Clippers and the Comets played an even-scoring game in the third quarter, with each team scoring 14 points.

Jim Neiman scored his first points of the night after Newman controlled the tip and scored to pull within one point of Amboy. Mike Kapp then scored on a long outside shot to push the Comets to a 32-31 lead. The Newman lead didn't last long as Esgar connected on a twenty-footer to switch the lead into the Clipper's favor. Bothe scored the next four points for the visiting team to give Amboy a 37-32 lead.

Newman, if it could have sunk the ball, might have pulled back into the lead but, as if a cover was placed over the basket, the Comets were taking three and even four shots without the ball going through the hoop.

The Clippers' rebounding improved in the third quarter. Not only did they pick up more defensive rebounds, but they started to rebound when they were on the offense. Amboy did not need too much offensive rebounding, as most times the first shot at the basket went through the hoop for the score.

As the seconds in the quarter continued to tick down, the Comets began to pick up speed and worked the ball more for the score. Repass pulled the Comets within one point at 1:31 left in the quarter. For a moment it looked like Newman was going to move into the lead with Repass's hot shooting, but Bothe moved the Clippers to a 45-42 lead to end the quarter's scoring.

Although it was not a runaway victory for the Clippers, they dominated the final quarter. Out-scoring the Comets, 15-12, Amboy tried to keep the pace of the game slow and prevent any costly turnovers. When the final buzzer went off, the Clippers were on top, taking their first victory in the opening Three Rivers Conference game.

Aces win easily

ASHTON—The Ashton Aces forced the Durand Bulldogs into numerous turnovers with their tough defense, press and man-to-man coverage en route to a 58-37 stomping, here, in the opening Upstate Illini Conference contest of the young season.

Ashton jumped to an early lead in the battle and controlled a first-quarter advantage at 11-4. Durand narrowed the margin with a higher-scoring second period as the Bulldogs pulled within four at 18-14 through the first half.

The Aces ran away with the conference match in the second half, scoring 40 markers to the Bulldogs' 23. Mike Caldwell paced the victors with 23 points on seven buckets and nine free throws. Marc Heinhorst trailed Caldwell as the next leading Aces scorer with nine markers. Bob Smith paced the Bulldogs with 13 points in a losing cause.

A key factor in the conference victory for the Aces was their ability to control the boards. Ashton pulled down 55 rebounds, 29 offensive and 26 defensive, with Jeff Meiners collecting nine and Caldwell six. Durand managed but 28, 12 offensive and 16 defensive.

Neither team racked up an outstanding shooting percentage, with Ashton pumping in 34 per cent of its shots, connecting on 20 of 58. Durand hit only 24 per cent, dropping in 15 buckets in 56 tries.

Ashton now travels to Franklin Grove Friday night to tangle with the Franklin Center Eagles in an Upstate Illini Conference contest. Both teams sport a 1-0 conference record going into the rivalry.

A high price might keep you from buying a new home.

But a low price
shouldn't.

A Wausau Home costs thousands of dollars less than comparable homes. Because of the way we buy materials and the efficiency of our controlled building system.

For example, every Wausau Home is built with the finest grade kiln-dried lumber. 100% copper plumbing. Real ceramic tile walls and floors in the bath.

We buy the very best and we buy in quantity. Which lowers the price, not the quality.

And we build under the very best conditions, indoors, out of the weather.

Stop by for a close look at a Wausau Home. But don't let our low prices scare you. That shouldn't keep you from buying the new home you want.

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Saturday, December 6, the 340th day of 1975. There are 25 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1941, President Franklin Roosevelt made a personal appeal for peace to Emperor Hirohito of Japan. The Pearl Harbor attack came the next day.

On this date: In 1847, Abraham Lincoln took his seat as a U.S. Representative from Illinois.

In 1889, the President of the Civil War Confederacy, Jefferson Davis, died.

In 1917, some 1,600 persons were killed in a collision between a Belgian ammunition ship and a French ammunition ship at Halifax, Nova Scotia.

In 1918, Allied troops occupied Cologne, Germany in the First World War.

In 1943, during World War II, the Soviets were informed that Dwight Eisenhower had been picked to command the Allied invasion of Europe.

In 1973, Gerald Ford was sworn in as the 40th American Vice President.

Ten years ago: General Charles de Gaulle suffered a political setback when he failed to win a majority of the votes in a French presidential election, making a runoff election necessary.

Five years ago: Pope Paul VI returned to Rome after a trip to Asia, where an attempt against his life had been made in Manila.

One year ago: The U.S. Labor Department announced a sharp jump in unemployment, bringing the jobless rate to 6 1/2 per cent of the work force.

Today's birthday: Former football coach Lou Little is 82. Thought for today: Well done is better than well said — Benjamin Franklin, 1706-1790.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the Continental Congress answered a royal proclamation declaring the Colonies in open rebellion. The Congress reaffirmed allegiance to the Crown but disclaimed allegiance to the English Parliament.

"Thousands of Christians are now under brutal persecution in Malawi," declared John David, presiding overseer of the Dixon Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. "Starting August 19, 1975, more than 34,000 Jehovah's Witnesses from Malawi who fled as refugees to Mozambique in 1972 because of severe persecution, were forced to return to Malawi and now experience brutal persecution again. All of this is because of their refusal to join a political party."

David said he had received a report from N. H. Knorr at the

Swinging Stars plan square dance

HARMON— The Swinging Stars of Harmon will hold their next scheduled dance on Dec. 13 at the Harmon Community Building.

This is their annual toy dance with all the toys being donated to the Salvation Army. A toy is requested but not required for admission. The toy can be either new or used. Tommy Russell will call the dance 8 to 11 p.m.

Brooklyn Headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses. Knorr said that when a group of Jehovah's Witnesses arrived at the Malawi border, the Minister for the Central Region, Kumbweza Banda, greeted them: "We welcome you with both hands. You left Malawi of your own accord and now you have returned of your own accord. The Malawi Congress Party is still in power in this country. Go back to your home villages and cooperate with the party officials." Then, referring to the members of the League of Malawi Youth, he said: "My boys are here to see that you do cooperate with the party." Soon roads in the north and central regions of Malawi were filled with Jehovah's Witnesses on their way back to their home villages.

In some instances the Witnesses were allowed to enter their villages and take up occupancy of houses they abandoned in 1972. However, in most cases Youth Leaguers soon called to ask if they were prepared to buy political party cards. Referring to Jesus' example of political neutrality, the Witnesses refused. Immediately beatings, rapings and other atrocities began again and many were driven from their homes. In Kanchenche six Witness women were all raped by several men. In Sosola village a group of men and women, including the local Member of Parliament, Elson Muluzi, seized the possessions of the Witnesses and drove them from the village.

Early in September youths under the direction of the Kasonjola branch of the Malawi Congress Party visited homes of Jehovah's Witnesses in six villages, demanding them to buy party cards. When they refused, the youths stole all their belongings, subjected them to terrible beatings and urinated on the supply of flour that these refugees had brought with them, making it unfit for food. In other locations the Witnesses were stripped naked, their hair burned off their bodies with torches and beaten until blood came out of their mouths and noses. This happened at Chimasongwe village in Lilongwe under the direction of the local chairman of the Youth League, Mr. Chipukupuku, while the attackers were urged on by local women members of the League of Malawi Women.

Because no one will accept them, many Witnesses have been forced to wander in the cities by day, sleeping in nearby forests at night. Upward of 4,800 fled to neighboring Zambia, but reports just re-veiled say they were repatriated to Malawi by force.

Dr. H. Kamuzu Banda, Life President of Malawi, recently instructed the Malawi police to round up adult Jehovah's Witnesses and put them in detention camps. The children are being left behind either to stay with relatives or fend for themselves. The government order applies this even to nursing infants. The police have ruthlessly executed this order. Whole congregations of Witnesses, men and women, have been rounded up and put in detention to further pressure them into buying party membership cards and to prevent flight from Malawi, according to the latest reports.
